

Career Connection – Aquaculture Manager

Aquaculture managers oversee fish farms. They have many important tasks to ensure that fish are raised in productive and sustainable ways. Aquaculture managers make sure that fish are fed the correct food and stay healthy. They are also responsible for the safety and education for those who work at a fish hatchery. Aquaculture managers play an important role in the sustainable production of fish for food and research needs.