

Career Connection – Ecologist

Ecologists are scientists who focus on plants, animals, and the physical environment that make up our ecosystem. Some examples of ecological work include conservation of plant and animal species, restoration of habitats that have been damaged by human activity, and working closely with policy makers to develop laws that help us to be more sustainable and kinder to the environment. Ecologists care about the natural world and work hard to protect it.